

Custom-made medicines make all the difference.

Sometimes the medicine that's commercially available is less than a perfect fit for you. When that happens, healthcare professionals turn to a certified compounding pharmacy like Flourish to create a customized solution.

Compounding is the science of making medicines from scratch. That means the dose, formula, and form of the medicine can all be customized to the precise needs of each patient.

Flourish has been formulating and crafting compounded medications for our community since 2004. When your healthcare provider says you need a compounded medication, bring your prescription to Flourish, and we'll create your medicine to the highest standards of quality and consistency.

We are Oklahoma's compounding pharmacy.

Since 2004, we've been compounding custom-made medications for people and pets across our great state. Healthcare providers trust Flourish for compounded medications because of our continuous commitment to quality.

Optimized Hormone Balance

We help women and men achieve optimized hormone balance through customized, compounded prescriptions crafted to your healthcare provider's exact specifications. Want to know more about hormones? Just ask.

For Pets and Vets

Ever tried giving medicine to an animal? Flourish puts many common pet medicines in forms your pets will love, like a treat for a dog or flavored drops for your cat's food. We customize doses, make discontinued medicines, and solve lots of other pet-medicine issues.

We answer to the highest standards for quality and consistency.

The Pharmacy Compounding Accreditation Board (PCAB) has created a set of strict standards for quality and consistency, which very few pharmacies are able to meet. Flourish was the first pharmacy in Oklahoma to be accredited by PCAB. We maintain our accreditation and adhere to their exacting standards for what we put in our medicines, how we make them, and the procedures we use every step of the way. Visit PCAB.org to learn more.

Jerrod Roberts

He is the man behind the Flourish vision: "Provide the very best compounded medications, and the highest level of service for every customer." Jerrod has assembled a team of talented professionals that help make Flourish one of Oklahoma's most trusted and respected compounding pharmacies.
